Whiplash injuries frequently cause acute pain following an accident.

Cancer pain may be undertreated because some patients assume that pain is part of the disease.

Back pain is second only to the common cold as the most frequent reason for a visit to a physician.

East End Pain Center

Specialists in the Diagnosis and Treatment of Acute, Chronic and Cancer Pain

Early and accurate diagnosis of your pain condition is the foundation of an effective treatment plan. At East End Pain Center, we believe that it is critical that the patient fully understands their diagnosis and treatment options.

Pain is different than other medical conditions, in the sense that there is no single test that diagnoses it. We must infer the cause through your medical history and additional testing. Once we determine what is causing the pain, we can develop a unique plan for treatment.

All of this and more will be discussed during your initial consultation with Dr. Gargiulo, the Medical Director of the East End Pain Center. Dr. Gargiulo is an Interventional Pain physician with nearly two decades of experience in pain management and anesthesiology. For each patient, he crafts an individual program of appropriate minimally invasive surgical procedures, medications, physical therapy and psychological support.

Our treatment approach is both multidisciplinary and multi-modal. We rely upon on prompt and early consultation with other specialists to address the underlying pain condition, and use a wide array of options to address the complex needs of severe pain conditions and facilitate recovery.

East End Pain Center is located in Southampton, New York. Most treatments and many procedures can be completed right in our office, and those that require a hospital admission are done right here in town at Southampton Hospital.
